DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

1. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

2. Claims 1, 3, 5-11, 13 and 15-17 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Davila et al. US #6,666,378 in view of Madison, US #5,316,345.

3. Davila et al. teach a card having front and rear panels connected by a fold line (Figure 5) and having preprinted indicia thereon (column 4 lines 18-24). The rear panel includes a die cut for holding a gift card (such as a phone card, see column 1 lines 64-65). Such gift cards include coded portions in the form of scannable information on a magnetic strip, as well as a bar code. The front panel conceals the gift card when folded (Figure 2a). The size of the greeting card portion is larger than that of the gift card.

4. Davila teaches using all sides of the card for indicia, but does not specifically describe indicia under the card. Such hidden indicia are well known in the art of cards, however. Madison shows a card including indicia that is initially covered (Figure 3b for example). It would have been obvious to a person having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to place indicia under the card so that the indicia may be seen once it is uncovered, as is shown in Madison.

5. Davila et al. teach the use of special occasion graphics (column 4 line 19).

Art Unit: 3611

6. Madison teaches the use of adhesive to hold label 54 over the indicia. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill to utilize adhesive as an alternative to a die cut.

7. Davila et al. do not teach a transponder or a transmitter, however, these are considered to be well known alternative equivalents to the magnetic strip. It would have been obvious to a person having ordinary skill in the art to utilize one of these alternatives as an obvious matter of design choice to accommodate the particular needs of the retail establishment where the card is to be used.

8. Claim 12 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Davila et al. and Madison as applied to claim 1 above, and further in view of Smith et al.

9. Davila et al. and Madison do not teach a window in the panel, however, this is well known as shown by Smith et al. Smith et al. teach card panels holding a gift card and window 5 through which bar code 7 shows. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill to utilize such a window in the card of Davila et al. (as modified by Madison) so that the card may be activated more easily.

Response to Arguments

10. Applicant's arguments with respect to the claims have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Conclusion

11. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP

Art Unit: 3611

§ 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.

12. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.

13. US patents 6698116 and 5915734 are cited as of interest.
